Some Dates for your Diary

Until 1st November :- The 'There but not There' soldiers are at St Thomas' Eaton and St John's Cotebrook.

In this WW1 100th anniversary year, St Thomas' and St John's are commemorating the part played by the soldiers who lost their lives in the conflict with displays of the relevant "There but not There" silhouettes from the 'Tarporley Remembers' Exhibition in St Helen's Church. Everyone is invited to see them from now until 1st November, at our Sunday Services, or by arrangement at other times.

Then on Saturday 3rd November all of the soldiers will return to St Helen's for a special afternoon which will include refreshments, poetry, music and dramatic readings.

3rd – 9th November. The exhibition will then stay at St Helen's for the week leading up to Remembrance Day. Please take the opportunity to visit all three of our churches to see the displays and exhibitions.
